Private Agreements between Unions and Multinational Corporations that Create Space for Union Organizing and How They Have Been Used in the Americas

Co-sponsored with the CORNELL GLOBAL LABOR INSTITUTE and CORNELL LAW SCHOOL

Globalization makes it imperative for unions to collaborate internationally. This half-day program will initiate the important discourse of transnational collaboration. What tools are currently being used? What are International Framework Agreements, and can they work for U.S. unions? How have they been used successfully in the Americas? This program will provide valuable insights and practical tools for union leaders and counsel. Please join us for this important workshop, moderated by Ellie Larson, the new Executive Director of Solidarity Center.
